

W.E.L.L.

Women Empowered and Loving Life

Clothesline Project 2011

In MA during 1990, some women got together and decided to show the truth. They painted t-shirts and hung them out on a clothesline for all to see. In April, W.E.L.L. is doing it again. Come support those who've survived violence, and pay respect to those who died because of such violence.

When: April 30th from 10am-5pm

Where: City Park, between Anseman and City Park Ave

Cost: FREE!

You do not have to be a survivor to participate! We are all touched by violence. If you've ever advised a female friend not to go out alone at night, you're responding to the ever-present threat of violence.

Let's not be threatened anymore. Let's speak up.

Lagniappe!

- ♥ free face-painting
- ♥ buy local vegan (and otherwise) baked goods and cold drinks
- ♥ t-shirts, necklaces, and other related gifts for sale to benefit W.E.L.L.

WOMEN EMPOWERED AND LOVING LIFE